

Connie Rishwain
Retired President
UGG

Ms. Rishwain catapulted the UGG shearling boot into a $1.5 billion global lifestyle brand under her leadership for the past 20 years. She was promoted to President of UGG in 2002 after serving as the VP General Manager of UGG. UGG is a division of Deckers Brands, a footwear and apparel company.

In addition to her role as President of UGG, Rishwain has been Group President of Deckers' Lifestyle Brands since 2014 and is a past president of the company's Simple division. Before joining Deckers in 1995, Ms. Rishwain was the VP of Merchandising and Marketing at Impo International Shoe Company and the VP of Merchandising for Nine West. Ms. Rishwain earned her bachelor's degree at University of the Pacific in 1979 with a degree in history.

Connie is married to Jeff Rishwain, and they have two children, Alec, a law student at ASU and Demetra a high school senior. They live in Santa Barbara, CA. Connie recently retired from UGG in August of 2015.